DISCUSS JEWISH VALUES WITH YOUR CHILD

Tzedakah, the act of giving, is a central Jewish value because helping people in need is a just thing to do. Judaism teaches to think of others and give generously.

What are some of the things that people need, and how can you help those people?

What is one thing we could do right now as a family to help someone in need in our community?

DO FUN STUFF AT HOME

Make giving tzedakah a habit for your family and share your enthusiasm! Create colorful posters or flyers about an organization that is important to you, such as a medical foundation or animal shelter. Hang your creations at school to encourage others to support their work. How will you help the organization? Maybe your family will collect needed items, fundraise, or visit and lend a hand.
