This bright idea turns something old into a new way to celebrate Hanukkah.

GLOW-IN-THE-DARK SPRAY PAINT UNIVERSITY

Guide visitors to your house for a little glow-in-the-dark fun. Watch how each candle burns at its own pace. Sing a song together. Eat a zucchini stick. Play a game. Read a PJ Library book. Life is good while the candles drip.

Tip: No cleaning up required! The glow-in-the-dark spray paint washes away with soap and water.

INGREDIENTS:
- Rocks
- 1 large russet potato, peeled
- ½ teaspoon black pepper
- ¾ cup sugar
- 1 clove of garlic, finely minced
- Oil

INSTRUCTIONS:
1. Scrape off dirt before starting.
2. When dry, add glow-in-the-dark puff paint, stickers, crayons, and other fun items.
3. Decorate a bag. Place cardboard or scrap paper inside the bag. Fill plastic bag with crayon pieces.
4. Put get-well card on top.
5. Deliver the bag to a friend who is feeling sick or make a bunch for children in a sickroom.

SEVENTH NIGHT. Hanukkah loves its miracles – a small cruse of oil lasting way beyond its burn date, the Jewish people and values still going strong. On Hanukkah you can broadcast these miracles, placing the Hanukkah menorah near a window to share the light with everyone. We at PJ Library celebrate with you the biggest miracle of all – your children. Happy Hanukkah!
